A short description of the foure Quarters of this yeere of our Lord 1607.

Of Winter.

Winter tooke beginning with vs, according to our English Computation vpon the 12 day of December, last before the beginning of this present Almanacke, at which time the sunne did enter into the first degree of Capricorne, and continually vntill the eleventh day of March, next after.

This season is naturally cold, moyst, and flegmaticke, resembling the nature of old men, and the element of Water: which Quater, I suppose, will not bee farre disagreeable to his naturall disposition thereof, untill there happen some higher windes then ordinary.

Of the Spring.

The Spring beginneth the eleuenth of March, the sun then entring into the Equinoctiall signe Aries, the dayes and nights being then of equall length thorough out the world.

This quarter is temperate, and continueth till the 12 of June, and is the most acceptable season to let blood, and take Physicke, to prevent sicknesses, and to expell olde griefes and diseases.

Of Summer.

Summer doth beginne the 12 of June next, when the sunne entereth into Cancer, making with vs the longest day and shortest night, and continueth untill the 13 of September then ensuing. This quarter is hote, dry, and cholericke, of the nature of the fire.

Of Haruest.

Haruest begins the 13 day of September, making the second Equinoctiall, causing the dayes and nights to be againe of equall length in all places. This season is commonly colde, dry, variable, and vnconstant, and is a dangerous time to fall sicke in, chiefly for aged persons, and such as haue olde greauances. &c. But for thy better satisfaction in the mutation of the ayre in euery of these 4. quarters, I referre thee to my diarie iudgement ensuing.

To

To the Reader.

Gentle Reader, I doubt not but there bee diuers that will aswel mutter as meruaile at these my doings, and healings in Astronomy and Astrologie, who (perchance) will not sticke to censure of me and my studies therein, or otherwise then my endeouours in the same, or the worthines of those Sciences shall deserue, whose rash, and vnadvised censures I will not heere stand to confute, considering the strongest Arguments of such persons, who hath heeretofore; and yet dooth enuy against those excellent knowledges, and the professors thereof, hath been by men of woorthy meritt, long since ouerthrowne. The which studies, I first rather chose, for mine owne priuate recreation, then for any publique ostentation. Since which time, considering with my selfe, that what Arte, science, or knowledge so euer a man hath insight in, beeing in himselfe concealed, doth not any thing auayle or profit others, his Countreymen and neighbors, whom as well by the Lawe of Nature, as the bonds of amitie, and Christian charitie he is obliged, to make partakers of the benefit of such his knowledge and skill. The which considerations, hath instigated me to publish to thy viewe, this poore Almanacke and Prognostication of mine, as the first frutes of a barren braine, and therefore not so compendiously handled, and so arteficially and ingeniously set foorth, as I hartily wish the same should haue bene, and as time I trust, will prosper my endeouours to doe. In the meane time, wanting abilitie in other studies, to performe what the willingnesse of my minde was ready to afforde, I thought it fitter in shewing my willingnesse, to pleasure some with the benefit of this wherein I had some insight, then wanting sufficiencie in other studies, to neglect this also,

To the Reader.

also, the which I hold of all others, (Diuinitie excepted) most worthy of praise and admiration, for euen as it hath pleased God to reueale himselfe by his Word, so hath hee also manifested himselfe vnto vs in his admirable works and creatures. And as to knowe him is the chiefest part of Diuinitie, so is it not the least, to know the effects and operations of his works, and creatures truly, wherfore the worthines of the studdie considered, and the benefite that may thereby arise to others, I rather chose to incur the priuate displeasures, or harde censures of some fewe persons, whose discourteous opinions can doe mee no hurt, then eyther for feare, or any particuler displeasure of them, to neglect a generall benefite by me intended, to all such as shall haue occasion to vse such a pamphlet. On whose kindnesse relying, and presenting this my first labour to their gentle acceptance, I briefly commit them to the sacred tuition of the most Almighty. From my house neere Grapes Inne this present 24. day of February. 1606.

The works of the Lord are great, and ought to be sought forth of all them that loue him. Psal. 111. verse. 2.
